About the Organisation

The Victorian Aboriginal Health Service (VAHS) was established in 1973 to address the specific medical needs of Victorian Aboriginal communities. 2023 marks as a landmark year as VAHS proudly celebrate it's 50-year of providing a comprehensive range of medical, dental, and social services for our community.

As well as providing a variety of medical services, VAHS is committed to supporting the well-being of the community through contributions to community events and activities. VAHS is also committed to assisting research into the ongoing needs of the community.

VAHS is a child safe organisation, committed to child safety and wellbeing, and recruits' staff in accordance with the Child Safe Standards Victoria.

About the Opportunity

The role of the psychiatric nurse is to work as part of the Balit Djerring Team at VAHS Family Counselling to provide client care, education, and support to members of the Aboriginal Community who have acute and chronic Mental illness and their family/carers.

The position operates under the supervision of the Balit Djerring Team Leader.

VAHS works within a recovery and strengths-based framework. This support aims to assist clients to develop independent living skills, connection community and culture, social inclusion, and ownership of their recovery.
