About the Organisation

The Victorian Aboriginal Health Service (VAHS) was established in 1973 to address the specific medical needs of Victorian Aboriginal communities. 2023 marked a landmark year as VAHS proudly celebrated its 50-year of providing a comprehensive range of medical, dental, allied health and social services for our community.

As well as providing a variety of medical services, VAHS is committed to supporting the well-being of the community through contributions to community events and activities. VAHS is also committed to assisting research into the ongoing needs of the community.

VAHS is a child safe organisation, committed to child safety and wellbeing, and recruits' staff in accordance with the Child Safe Standards Victoria.

About the Opportunity

The Aboriginal Practitioner role supports the learning and development of Parenting Skills and children's 0-5 development. The worker will provide culturally appropriate support to strengthen parenting outcomes for Aboriginal families, thereby contributing to the early learning of children aged 0-5 years.

Key Selection Criteria

To be considered for this role you must have the following:

- Knowledge, understanding and respect for Aboriginal culture and community.
- Qualification as an Aboriginal Health Worker or other relevant profession.
- Experience working in an Aboriginal Community Controlled Health Organisation.
- Demonstrated commitment to Health, Safety and Wellbeing of self and others and Child Safety.

How to Apply

Please send your application, which must include a cover letter, resume and responses to the selection criteria, via employment@vahs.org.au before Sunday 9pm, October 13th 2024.

Request for position description can be made via employment@vahs.org.au.
